About Peta Williams Consulting

For managers in the arts and community services sectors who need timely and effective support, Peta Williams offers extensive expertise across diverse roles and services, gained from years of experience working in both sectors.

She can provide perspectives and strategies according to your needs.

Peta's services are effective in domains such as operations management, policy development, community advocacy, human resources (recruitment planning, position descriptions, onboarding and orientation), and research and writing for strategic planning, submissions, grants and tenders, website copy and annual reports.

About Peta Williams

Based in New South Wales Australia, Peta specialises in working with arts and community services sector organisations. She has over 30 years' experience as a senior manager in a range of organisations, encompassing the arts, music therapy and community in both government and non-government roles.

Personally and professionally, she holds to the four key principles of social justice – access, equity, participation, and human rights, and she believes in the power of the arts and community development to animate communities in which people are empowered to live their best possible lives within a safe and connected civic society.

What it costs

Costs are determined on the complexity of the project or service involved.

This will be negotiated with you.

Peta would be pleased to offer a complimentary 30-minute conversation to determine your needs and how she may be able to help.

Two heads are better.

Here's mine.
